

Terms of use

General provisions

AffiliateIT provides for use and owns an affiliate network on the domain: <http://affiliateit.com>

Members of the affiliate network are: Webmasters, Advertisers, AffiliateIT.

You can become a member of the AffiliateIT affiliate network by completing the registration procedure on the appropriate domain: <http://affiliateit.com>

The administration reserves the right to refuse the webmaster to participate in the affiliate program without explaining the reasons for the refusal.

Webmaster Requirements

The webmaster is obliged to ensure that he has the necessary rights to conduct marketing activities on the advertising sites declared by him. He himself bears any legal and property responsibility for what is happening on his advertising sites.

The webmaster undertakes not to take any actions that affect the operation of the affiliate network <http://AffiliateIT.pro>. Such actions are understood as attempts to technically influence the performance of the affiliate network servers, attempts to hack protection mechanisms, use viruses, trojans, and other malicious programs for any of their purposes. Use brut force attacks, DoS(DdoS) attacks, spam, use of links and any other processes that could damage the affiliate network.

The webmaster is allowed to have only one account. The account is created one for one individual or one for one legal entity. If an individual is acting in state for an entity that has an account with the AffiliateIT Affiliate Network, then they are prohibited by these rules from creating a personal individual account to perform their official duties for that entity.

The webmaster is obliged to immediately respond to requests and requests from the <http://affiliateit.com> Administration, including eliminating the causes of advertisers' complaints regarding the content and quality of advertising materials, as well as sources and methods of placing advertising materials. In the event that within 24 hours no response was received to the request and appeal of the Administration, the Administration has the right to apply sanctions to the webmaster.

If you have any questions about using the affiliate program <http://affiliateit.com>, the webmaster can contact the support service for Webmasters.

The webmaster must strictly follow these rules.

Mislead the Administration by any means.

The procedure for imposing sanctions on the webmaster

If the Webmaster violates the rules of working with the system, the Administration reserves the right to apply sanctions to him. Sanctions may be as follows:

Suspension of payments on the account, until a decision is made on the degree of misconduct of the Webmaster.

Temporary blocking of the account, until a decision is made on the extent of the Webmaster's misconduct.

Permanent blocking of the Webmaster's account, with the blocking of all earned funds in favor of the advertiser, for whose offer the rules were violated.

Making a decision on the degree of the Webmaster's misconduct is decided individually, but not more than within 3 working days from the moment the sanction comes into force.

Financial settlements with webmasters

Payments to webmasters are made according to the details that are indicated in the profile. Each offer has a Hold value equal to the number of days given to the system and the advertiser to check the action. After the Hold time expires, if the action was not canceled by the system or the advertiser, then the reward becomes available for withdrawal. The webmaster's account consists of two fields: Balance and Available. On the Balance there is a potentially earned amount for actions before the expiration of the Hold time. In Available, there are funds available for withdrawal.

Payout Rules

Payments are made within 3-5 working days after successful moderation. Early payments are possible upon agreement with the administration.

To receive a payment, it must be ordered through your personal account. You can order for withdrawal only the amount that is in Available. The minimum payout amount is $50.

The administration reserves the right to change these rules at any time and without prior notice.
